

Writer

OpenCity Projects (opencityprojects.com) is a creative lab that explores the role public space plays in creating great urban experiences for people. We are a multi-disciplinary team looking for creative people from a range of backgrounds who share our passion for city-building.

The position is for a 6-month period and may be extended pending performance. Work commitment is 3-5 hours per week, which can be done remotely, and attendance at our monthly team meeting. The writer will be profiled on our web site, (opencityprojects.com/about/people) and a reference will be provided to universities and/or future employers pending a positive performance evaluation. This is a volunteer position as OpenCity is a volunteer-driven organization.

Responsibilities

- Contribute 2-3 blog posts per week based on the editors' direction
- Submit story ideas, drafts and revisions according to deadlines
- Promote stories on social media via social networks (Twitter/FB)

Required Skills

- Strong writing/verbal communication and inter-personal skills
- Passion for cities and how they're designed
- Prior experience with blogging or photography is a bonus

How to Apply

Interested candidates should submit a sample blog story and 2-3 story ideas to contact\(at\)opencityprojects.comopencityprojects.com).